

Terms and Conditions

To assist those seeking information, the SC Confederate Relic Room and Military Museum provides access to artifacts in collections for legitimate research purposes by historians, researchers, and the general public so long as access does not threaten or endanger the collection object(s).

The Curator of History will control and provide access to the collection, evaluating each request individually. Access will be based on the museum's primary responsibility for the preservation of the collection, legitimacy of the request, and the practicality of scheduling access. Please make all appointments directly with the Curator of History, 803-737-8092.

Reproduction Rights: Permission must be obtained to reproduce and/or publish images of any object from the collections of the SC Confederate Relic Room and Military Museum. Signing this form does not constitute permission to publish or reproduce images from the collection or collection artifacts. Permission to publish or reproduce must be applied for separately (form provided by museum).

The SC Confederate Relic Room and Military Museum reserves the right to limit access to any photography of its collections. Fees are generally waived for those conducting original scholarly research, but anyone given permission to photograph collection items may be asked to provide the museum a copy of the photograph free of charge. Electronic copies will be accepted.

Anyone reproducing and or publishing photographs of collections items for commercial purposes must have special permission and will be charged. This includes, but may not be limited to, posters, prints, postcards, note cards, advertising, promotional contexts, or artifacts used as integral parts of commercial products. This also includes reproducing artifacts from the museum's collections for profit. The money from these fees goes into the museum's conservation fund. See Reproduction Fees form.
